ADE AT NASHVILLE. A STUBBORN CONTEST

Thousand Confederate Veterans In Line.

MOTH CROWD ATTENDS.

Who Were President in the Days of the Rebellion Appear in the Rank and File.

Ville, June 25.—Crowds every day in houses, on house-locking sidewalks and filling every available space the line of march of the grand of the Confederate veterans.

hundred thousand people had to see a parade constituting people on horseback, on foot and stages, marching to the music of bands, drums and fifes, music years ago they heard during war. Nothing in the history of the world has equalled the outpouring.

aptly the parade started, police back cleared the way, and start to finish the best of order led all vehicles keeping from the included in the line of march, streetcars stopped running.

parade was cheerfully accorded right of way. From the start, the custom house, through the city, around the public square out Broad street to Vanderiverity, where the parade broke a dense mass of enthusiastic people greeted the old soldiers their generals. The beautiful who took part. The citizens were both welcoming and their departing guests and it with whole-souled cordiality to witness.

Over the Duty on Manufactured Woolens Is Waged.

CAFFERY SPEAKS HIS MIND.

It Was a Day of Constant Rivalries and Animated Debates on the Effect of Duties Advancing the Rates.

Washington News.

Washington, June 25.—A stubborn contest over the duties on manufactured woolen goods occupied the attention of the senate.

It was a day of constant rivilries, and of crossfire debate on the effect of the duties in advancing rates. Many amendments were proposed to reduce the rates, but these were rejected by decisive majorities. Less than five pages were disposed of during the day, carrying the senate through paragraph 370, the first of the paragraphs relating to carpets.

During the day Mr. Caffery (La.) spoke at length against the protective system and severely arraigned those Democratic senators who had voted for duties on wool and other raw materials.

Resolutions of deep regret were passed on the death of Representative Cooke of Illinois and a committee of five senators was named as an escort.

TELEGRAPH TOLLS.

Perry Heath Will Act as Referee to Fix the Rate.

Washington, June 25.—The United States court of claims on the recommendation of the department of justice has appointed First Assistant Postmaster General Perry S. Heath sole referee in the case of the Western Union Telegraph company versus the United States, growing out of Postmaster General Wanamaker's order providing an arbitrary telegraph tariff for the government. He succeeds the former referee, Charles O. Shepard and William H. Browne. The postmaster general is charged with the duty of fixing the tolls to be paid on all government messages.

During the Harrison administration

Mr. Wanamaker fixed the rate at one mill a word, which rate was in operation for a long period, but was finally raised to about 40 per cent of the rate charged individuals. In the settlement of the bills covering the mill rate period a dispute arose and the case was taken to the courts, where it has been pending since but will be decided shortly.

Mr. Heath as referee will ascertain the exact figures in the dispute, which amounts to nearly $1,000,000, and on his report the court of claims will proceed to determine the question whether the postmaster general may arbitrarily fix telegraph rates for public business. The case probably will be taken before the New York Journal.

Confere With Minister Woodford.

Washington, June 25.—Stewart L. Woodford had an interview with the president respecting his mission to Spain. He will not leave for Madrid before the latter part of July and will spend the time from now on in acquiring an accurate knowledge of the present state of our relations with Spain. Mr. Calhoun is still in Washington and probably will confer with Mr. Woodford.

Military Attacks.

Washington, June 25.—Secretary Alger has assigned three officers to fine places as military attachés in Europe. Captain Tasker H. Bliss, commissary of subsistence, goes to Madrid; Lieutenant John R. Williams, Third artillery, to Berne, and Lieutenant J. L. Chamberlain, First artillery, to Vienna.

A Fraudulent Award.

Washington, June 25.—The United States court of claims rendered a decision in the famous La Abra case holding in effect that the award rendered against Mexico by Sir Edward Thorne, acting as umpire under the treaty of 1848 with Mexico was obtained by testimony of a corrupt character.

Phil Sheridan's Son.

Washington, June 25.—About 50 cadets at the United States military academy have been appointed for the next class year, among them being Phillip H. Sheridan, son of the late General Phil Sheridan, who is appointed cadet-at-large.

The Visitors Strike.

Pittsburg, June 25.—The Pan-American went to Homestead and had bare reached that historic scene of labor strife when they struck for shorter hours. They have been insisting that business is their only mission on this transcontinental, so the Pittsburg people arranged a 12 hour schedule. But the heat was too much even for the men from the Tropics, and after going away to ascertain the exact time.

A postoffice clock in Sydney, N. S. W., emits an electric flash light lasting five seconds every hour during the night, thus enabling those living miles away to ascertain the exact time.

Switzerland has issued a new 2 franc goldpiece, Helvetia being represented on its face, a realistic peasant girl's head. Around it are 22 stars for the 22 cantons.

Masonic Temple Dedicated.

Detroit, June 25.—The Masons of Detroit formally dedicated their magnificent new temple with impressive cere monies.

NAVAL BOATS FLOTILLA.

Torpedo Boat Fleet Will Drill Like the White Squadron.

Lieutenant Commander W. W. Kimball has been selected to organize a flotilla comprising all the torpedo boats of the navy. Lieutenant Commander Kimball will also take command of the flotilla after its organization.

This is the first attempt to mobilize these smaller vessels into a fleet, or mosquito navy, as valuable in its place as the heavy battleships and armored cruisers.

The torpedo boat is fitted better than any other kind of craft to be a guardian of narrow passes, patrol of shallow waters or sentinel of navigable rivers and bays. Her light draft renders it possible to penetrate far inland on the rivers. She may go to the great lakes through the Erie canal.

The torpedo flotilla will include the new destroyers. Capable of a speed of 30 miles an hour and armed with torpedo tubes and 6 pounds, these are formidable foes.

During the summer months extensive evolutions will be practiced. Lieutenant Commander Kimball will decide upon their nature and extent. The location is also a matter that must be determined.

Whatever form the evolutions may take, they will call for cool heads and quick and steady nerves. These requirements must be fulfilled not only by officers, but also by engineers, seamen and even stokers.

The fleet that Lieutenant Commander Kimball will command will consist of 25 boats. The instruction boat Stiletto will join it. So will the four vedette boats of the Maine and Texas, which were to have been carried on the decks of those ships, but proved too heavy. The Holland submarine boat will be one of the flotilla.

There are 19 others, including the new destroyers, six in number.

WANTED ONLY A MILLION.

A Woman Wants This Amount For Alleged False Imprisonment.

A young, sad-faced woman, who said her name was Mrs. Dreyer of Brooklyn, asked to see Mayor Strong of New York recently. She wanted him to assist her in some way to secure an indemnity of $1,000,000 for alleged false imprisonment and cruel treatment in a sanitarium in Stamford, Conn. There was a refinement about her features, and her English was pure, although she said she was a Russian subject.

It was her extraordinary statement rather than her manner that led Officers Kenney and Mahon to regard her as a "crank" and refused to permit her to see the mayor.

She declared she had been removed from her home without an order of court and sent to the Connecticut institution, where she was kept for eight months. Her relatives, she believed, had conspired against her so as to secure control of a large sum of money which had been sent her by a sister of the czarina of Russia. She was told to apply to the United States district attorney.

New York Journal.

Longstreet at Home.

Hamlin Garland, who recently called to see General Longstreet at his farm near Gainesville, Ga., writes: "I looked for a large, old fashioned southern place, with pillars and a wide hall. Instead the house was an ordinary story and a half farmhouse, such as a northern carpenter might build. A board nailed to a tree offered wine for sale at a very low price, and I saw an extensive vineyard across the road. A lean, farmerlike person told me that General Longstreet was in his vineyard, and there I came upon him, shears in hand, busily pruning his vines. He is a big old man, stooping a little now, and slow of gait. He wears long white whiskers, cut away from his chin. His hair is white as wool, but his skin is ruddy, as though sleep and good digestion were still his to command."

Cotton Prospects Are Good.

Reports from 2,606 planters and cotton dealers in the south indicate that there is an increase in cotton acreage this year over last year of 978,000 acres. Except in Texas, where the weather conditions have been normal, the crop is late, and much damage has been done in the Mississippi valley by the floods.

ITEMS OF INTEREST.

Nashua, N. H., is to have a public building, congress having made an appropriation of $100,000 for that purpose.

Women working in many German factories are forbidden to wear corsets during working hours.

The largest newspaper circulation in the world is that of the Paris Petit Journal, which averages more than 1,100,000 copies per day.

A postoffice clock in Sydney, N. S. W., emits an electric flash light lasting five seconds every hour during the night, thus enabling those living miles away to ascertain the exact time.

CHINESE SOLDIERS.

A Remarkable Promotion—How the Officers Rob the Government.

A young man from my native town entered the army, and by dint of hard fighting and real merit rose to the rank of brigadier general, but with him at every promotion rose his brother, whom I will call X., who had not met him for years and who was peacefully occupied as cook in a distant opium den. This is how it was done. The soldier, after each engagement in which he distinguished himself, reported imaginary deeds of valor performed by his brother, and his word was taken. One day the cook in the opium den, who had never even seen a battle, read his name in The Gazette and found to his surprise that he had attained the rank of colonel in the imperial forces.

This is the first attempt to mobilize these smaller vessels into a fleet, or mosquito navy, as valuable in its place as the heavy battleships and armored cruisers.

STATE DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION.

The Democratic party of Ohio is hereby notified to meet in convention, by its duly constituted delegates, chosen as hereinafter provided, at the city of Columbus, Ohio, on Tuesday, June the 30th, and Wednesday, July 1st, for the purpose of nominating suitable persons for the following offices:

Governor.

Lieutenant Governor.

Secretary of state.

Judge of the supreme court.

Attorney General.

Commissioner of common schools.

Member of the board of public works.

Also to select a committee of correspondence to choose one member from each congressional district and to transact such other business as may properly come before said convention.

This convention has agreed upon and prescribed the following rules for the selection of delegates to said convention, and other measures pertaining thereto:

1. The delegates from the respective constituencies shall be selected in the following manner:

(1) By popular vote at the primaries.

(2) By a mass convention called at some convenient and designated place in the county.

(3) By nomination and may be presided over by the chairman of the county convention.

2. It is made, the duty of the respective county committees to determine the method in which they shall give due notice by publication in their respective newspapers in the county, or at least ten days before the election date, and date of selecting the delegates, which shall be not less than three days prior to the assembling of the state convention.

3. If any county committee fall or fail to give a call for the selection of delegates as above, at least ten days prior to the last day upon which they may be chosen, it will be lawful for not less than two of them to call a meeting of the same voting members to form a new committee, and fix a date not more than five days hence, for a mass convention to select the delegates to which they have been sent, and the delegates so selected shall be held to regularly and lawfully selected.

4. The following persons, and none other,
whom such rules as may be prescribed by the respective county committees, are eligible to participate in the selection of delegates:

Persons, all who voted for William J. Bryan, all who voted for the November election, the President, all other persons who are now in accord with the position of the Democratic party, as set forth in the Democratic platform adopted at Chicago, July 1st, 1896, and especially those who favor the "silver standard," and especially those who favor the "overvalued standard of both gold and silver at the current rate of 1 to 1, without waiting for the adoption of any other standard," and who, if called, at the time of the election, will be willing to renounce their political party, and identify themselves with the Democratic party, and we hereby invite them to do so, and we do so, and we do so that they shall be held to regularly and lawfully selected.

5. The following persons, and none other,
whom such rules as may be prescribed by the
respective county committees, are eligible to participate in the selection of the central and executive committees, consisting of the same persons, to the chairman of the state executive committee at Columbus, as soon as it shall be chosen.

6. The following persons, will assemble at 3 p.m. on the second day, or later, to receive the respective organizations, and to hear the reports of the various committees preparatory to the annual convention.

7. The convention will be opened at the ratio of one delegate for each 500 votes or fraction of 500 or more, cast for William J. Bryan President in 1896. The respective counties are entitled to the following number of delegates:

If tariff is for the benefit of the American laborer, then why is labor wages being reduced in every protected industry at this moment in the face of an increasing tariff duty?
Let some advocate of a protective tariff answer for laboring men.

Wise men tell us money is plenty,
all that is needed is to get it among the people. The same thing can be said of fire that is beyond the reach of the freezing man, or water that is locked from those starving of thirst. Can money be gotten among the people so long as it is more profitable to hoard than to invest?

The Toledo Bee says: "Oh, it was pitiful, that speech of Bushnell's, in accepting a nomination for governor of Ohio: He expressed sympathy for Cuba and hope of a good harvest;
but failed to say a word of the affairs of the state. The whole convention was a parody reading: 'Let all be for the party, and none be for the state.'"

In your Uncle Marcus' "piece" so cleverly written by his paid attorney, he did not tell what had become of the prosperity that he and Brer Mc-Kinley promised so faithfully last autumn. It was scheduled to come along immediately if McKinley was elected, but somehow slipped the trolley, and Marcus failed to explain about it.

The Republican newspapers of Toledo are eulogizing Mark Hanna upon his speech. It probably cost Marcus several of the dollars that he wrung from his oppressed employees to have some person write the speech for him, and several more to employ some eloquentist to drill him in the delivery of it. Marcus' long suit is labor crushing—not indulging in oratorical flights.

None need longer be mistaken as to who elected McKinley. Statistics are now complete enough to show that vote came from the cities and large towns. What does this mean? It means the coercion policy of railroads, factories and all places where force could be used under the threat of loss of position, or promise of advanced wages.

And now comes one Asa S. Bushnell, candidate for governor of Ohio
on the Republican ticket, through the grace of boss Hanna, and says that Major Dick is a traitor and does not tell the truth in things political.
All of which goes to confirm the statements made by Jo Foraker and reiterated in the Republican press of Ohio that the Republican party of this state has harmony to spare.

And now comes one Asa S. Bush-
nell, candidate for governor of Ohio

All of which goes to confirm the
statements made by Jo Foraker and
reiterated in the Republican press of Ohio that the Republican party of
this state has harmony to spare.

Hon. William J. Bryan very tersely stated the financial problem as follows:

"Restoration of bimetallism will restore the parity between money and property and thus permit an era of prosperity which will enable the American people to become lenders of money instead of perpetual borrowers.
How long can we continue to borrow under a system which by lowering the value of property weakens the foundation upon which credit rests?"

The Toledo Blade brands those Republicans who believe that the coinage of silver would insure to the benefit of the country, as "silver Republican traitors."

The condition of the country's business under the iniquitous gold standard has become so desperate, and there are so many hungry children under the operation of the gold bug policy, that there will be thousands and thousands of "silver Republican traitors" this fall.

Many of these men are now traversing the streets of Toledo and other cities looking in vain for work. They see that the operation of the policy of the gold standard people means less employment and more suffering, less wages and more empty stomachs, and they want no more of it. They were hoodwinked and coerced by the gold power last fall, and after election were thrown upon their own resources, with idle factories, depressed business and a financial condition which has grown steadily worse since McKinley and his crew have been steering the ship of state. The many hungry, unemployed men whom the Republican press and leaders call "silver Republican traitors," say to these gold bug managers:
"We want labor; we want clothing;
we want fuel; we want food for our wives and babies. You have sold us out for British gold. We now purpose shaking off the domination of the gold money changers, who promised everything and gave nothing but rage, idleness and hunger."

and will identify ourselves with the political party which favors such a policy as will give us employment at prices sufficiently remunerative to give our families food, shelter and raiment. And if this be treason, make the most of it." The goldbug Republicans will be groveling before these "silver Republican traitors"
before the election, imploring them to come to their aid to help save the golden calf from annihilation.

not face the humiliation of the defeat he had sustained and was glad to escape before the announcement of the committee was made before the convention. It was funny, indeed, but Brer Kurtz can exist without a repetition of such an episode of fun.

A dispatch from Washington to the New York World, comments upon the open snub given to ex-Senator Sherman at the Toledo convention,
in the following manner:

James B. Eustis, late American ambassador to France, has much of interest to say concerning foreign sentiment and feeling toward this country and the policy of the party in power. In a recent interview, Mr.
Eustis, among other things, said:

"All France, from one end to the other, is heartily tired of McKinley already. All Europe, in fact, is up in arms against the proposed tariff bill. It is bound to lead to retaliation on the part of European nations that will ultimately cripple the commerce of the United States. The continental nations will doubtless accept this increase of duty as a wager of commercial war, which they expect to have to fight to the bitter end."

"Recently one of the ministers of the German Empire, in conversation with Kaiser Wilhelm, expressed his fear of what is known as the 'peril genre,' (yellow danger,) which means the cheap competition from Asiatic races like the Chinese and Japanese.
'No,' replied the Emperor, 'the trade hostility that European nations have to fear will not come from Eastern Asia, but from across the Atlantic.
And we shall never be able to resist
it until the European nations organize to retaliate against American products, as I hope and believe they will before long."

The Republican papers now abound
in statements that the Toledo convention resulted in harmony with the largest sort of an H. They claim with the coolest possible assurance that the contest for the control of the committee was only in fun, and now all hands are perfectly happy over the result. It was so uproariously funny that Charley Kurtz, the Bushnell-Foraker candidate for chairman, left the convention and the city before the permanent organization had been announced. He could not get away from the roar of applausive voices.

"The ideal candidate would be that polished gentleman, accomplished scholar, loyal Democrat, the legiti-mate successor among the younger generation of Thurman, Pugh and Pendleton—Judge Samuel F. Hunt,
of Hamilton county. If Cincinnati would come up to the convention bearing his banner it would sweep everything before it and his election would be a foregone conclusion."

The general public is cordially invited to be present.

Athletics will be conducted at 10 o'clock during the next week only, when a change to 4 o'clock will be made.

To-morrow morning at 9 o'clock the ladies take their swimming instructions.

Very many of the members are acquiring the useful as well as pleasurable art of swimming. The most scientific arrangement ever invented for such instructions.

Your membership ticket will carry you through this institution. Why not take advantage of it?

Dr. D. R. Rothrock, of New Berlin Pa., does not hesitate to recommend Chamberlain's medicines. He says: "I have handled them for a year or more in my pharmacy and find them safe and reliable. My customers praise them very highly." No one who is troubled with rheumatism can use Chamberlain's Pain Balm without praising it. The quick relief from pain which it affords is alone worth many times its cost. For sale by Malville, the druggist, old postoffice corner; O. W. Heister, 58 public square.

OIL AND GAS.

RUNS AND SHIPMENTS OF OIL.

The reports show that the runs of oil from the Ohio and Indiana fields are dropping off instead of increasing, which shows that the new wells completed are not heavy enough producers to keep up the loss occasioned by the decline of the older wells. The daily average per well per day in both states are a trifling over two barrels each, and as there are close to 26,000 producing wells, it shows that a great many of them are putting out less than a barrel a day. For the first half of the month the shipments for Ohio and Indiana oil is 7,342 barrels more than the runs per day.

This shows that so far during the month the stocks have been drawn on to the extent of 102,702 barrels. This is good indication for an advance in the price of the commodity, as the Buckeye operators are entitled to it, as instead of piling up stocks like the eastern operators they are compelling the Standard to take at least 200,000 barrels per month from the stock to supply the demand. In the eastern fields the runs so far for the present month are 8,445 barrels more than the shipments. The drill is not being pushed to any extent in the Ohio and Indiana fields, while in the West Virginia districts rigs go up like mushrooms.

DISEASES OF THE SKIN.

The intense itching and smarting incident to eczema, tetter, cut-rheum, and other diseases of the skin is instantly allayed by applying Chamberlain's Eye and Skin Ointment. Many very bad cases have been permanently cured by it. It is equally efficient for itching piles and a favorite remedy for sore nipples; chapped hands, chilblains, frost bites, and chronic sore eyes. For sale by druggists at 25 cents per box.

Try Dr. Cady's Condition Powders, they are just what a horse needs when in bad condition. Tonic, blood purifier and vermifuge.

A MARVELOUS AND MERCILESS MASSACRE OF MERCHANDISE!

Is What the Great Closing Out Sale at The Mammoth Can be Appropriately Termed.

This sale will sink into insignificance any sale ever before attempted. The reason is obvious. The imperative necessity of immediately clearing out the immense stock that was secured for the season renders all thought of price or profit secondary to the desire to quickly retire from business.

SO • WE • SLAUGHTER • PRICES !
AND DO NOT CONCEAL THE FACT.

We make a slash in every department. We are determined to sell these goods and sell them at once. This determination will prove a source of profit to the people, because we will not stop at the question of price to attain our ends.

THIS IS AN UNRIVALLED OPPORTUNITY

To secure the best and biggest bargains ever offered. We do not rely on lurid language to attract the attention of the people, but we give them cold, hard, unanswerable fact. This fact is found in our price list.

An Idaho Sapphire.

An Idaho miner brought a stone to the miners' bureau which was pronounced a sapphire of the purest water and the largest ever seen. The gem was nearly a cube, being about 1½ inches thick, 1½ inches wide and 2 inches long. It was much water worn, showing plainly the plumb conformation gradually assumed by gems found in the bedrock mountain terrains, the edges being very rounded. This is the first sapphire to have ever been discovered in Idaho. They are frequently found in Montana, and some very fine stones have come from there. The owner of this stone is operating placer mines in Idaho, and the stone was found in the tailings and presented on account of its bright blue color. News of the find reached New York, and an agent of Tiffany, after examining the stone, offered $5,500 for it. The owner decided that if it was worth that in the rough it was probably worth much more and is now on his way to London, where he expects to realize its full value.

The stone is almost perfect, the only blemish being a fracture on one side extending less than one-eighth of an inch into the stone. Mr. Taylor, who has a long experience in handling gems, says that in his opinion it is the largest known sapphire in the world, the weight being 208 carats. Sapphires are valuable according to their purity, perfectly clear gems bringing high prices, the price, like that of diamonds, being increased per carat in proportion to the weight of the stone.—Denver Republic.

House of Commons Ostracized.

That talking in the house of commons has increased, is increasing and ought to be diminished is admitted by all. The difficulty lies in finding a remedy. The greatest offenders are the occupants of the two front benches. They are so exhaustively wise that their speeches, however they may smack of wisdom, do not smack of brevity. There seems to be an unwritten law that when a minister has spoken for an hour the speech of the ex-minister who answers him must run to about the same length. Others, however, not on these benches are given to emulously imitating those who are. I often see it stated that the house of commons is degenerating into a mere debating society. This is just what it is not, and the first step for improvement would be that debating speeches should replace set speeches. Nowadays they are made ubi orbi. If the city and the world do not get them in the full, owing to compression in ordinary reporting, they are served up verbatim to constituents in the local papers. Rules for good speaking it is easy to institute, and then to show what is bad by making a speech. With this proviso I should say that a house of commons speech ought not to travel over the entire controversy unless it be a preliminary setting forth of the arguments for or against a proposal, but should rather be a reply to any arguments used by the previous speaker that have not before been put forward. For this ten minutes should be ample sufficient.—London Truth.

Hailstorms Dissipated by Explosives.

Recent experiments in Syria on the breaking up of hailstorms by the firing of gunpowder met with remarkable success. M. A. Stiger, burgomaster of the city of Windisch-Feistritz, and proprietor of extensive vineyard, having replanted a part of his land on the Semitza, took the following precautions to prevent the young plants from hailstorms, to which this region is exposed. Over an extent of about six kilometers (3.7 miles), at elevated points, he built six iron structures, each holding ten large mortars. At some distance from each of these structures he located a hut to be used as a powder magazine.

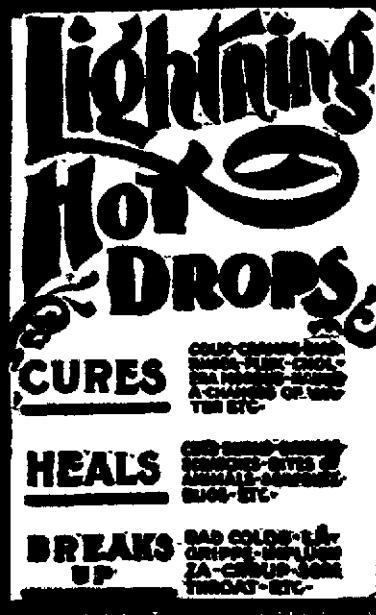

M. Stiger then organized a body of volunteers composed of the inhabitants of the surrounding country, each post could in case of necessity be manned by six persons. In the course of last summer the residents of Windisch-Feistritz were able to make their first experiment. Masses of black and threatening clouds approached from the neighboring mountains. As a great signal the discharge of 60 mortars began. After some minutes the clouds could be seen to pause, break up and disperse without letting down either hail or rain in the protected region. The experiment was repeated in the course of the same summer, taking place six times and always with the same success. The efficacy of the discharge extended over about one square mile.—Literary Digest.

A Vienna Mother.

A medical weekly paper published in the city of Vienna says that Mrs. Maria Anna Hohn, the wife of a spinner of that city, though only 40 years of age, is the mother of 32 children—namely, 26 sons and 6 daughters! These children were born as follows: Four, three, four, two, three, two, three, three, two, three and three, or 11 birth marks! The mother has nursed the whole of her children, and they are still alive. Mrs. Hohn was herself one of your children, born together, and her mother had 38 children! It is a remarkable circumstance that this woman "from her fifteenth year to the present time has suffered almost every week from an attack of epilepsy, but none of the children up to the present time has been afflicted with the disease."

Far, Far Away.

"Once upon a time," says the Boston Herald, "Senator Cameron called upon President Lincoln at the White House. He was a particularly pestiferous person to him. 'Where do you want to have him sent?' asked the president. There was a long silence in the room. The Pennsylvania senator sat one arm around it as if he could reach it. 'I do not know what my finger is on, but send him there.' And he was gone."

Outdoor Air.

Few persons stop to think of the great difference between indoor and outdoor air. In every dwelling a portion of the air has already entered the lungs and is in the nature of excretion. The outdoor air alone is tolerably pure, but perfectly so only at high altitudes and away from cities.

We talk about climate cure, about going to Florida or Nice for health, but we venture to assert that any invalid may secure a greater improvement with regard to the air he breathes by proper ventilation of his dwelling room and by living out of doors most of the time than he can by going to any new climate and neglecting these conditions. Many a poor invalid's salvation might be found in his own garden, while he may go to the ends of the earth in search of health and die in the closed room to which he has retreated in the fear of outdoor air.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Mother Almost Worn Out—Hands Colic Cure Gave Instant Relief.

BELL BROOK, O., March 25, '96.—Dr. Hind—"I received your sample bottle of Colic Cure and was never so glad in my life. My baby had the wind colic ever since she was born and I was almost worn out. I will recommend your Colic Cure to every mother. Mrs. J. G. Wade." Sold by all druggists, 25¢.

Great Fire.

Greek fire, which had several other names—wild fire, liquid fire, wet fire and fire rats—descriptive of its destructiveness, is said to have been the most destructive engine of war previous to gunpowder. Discovered by Callinicus, a Syrian, it was first used in the siege of Constantinople, 673-678, and at Mec-

TROTTERS AND PACERS.

Carval, 2 15 2, will be in Lester Gore's stable.

Brake 2 12 2, has been bred to Astell 2 12.

William Penn 2 12 2, is looking good and strong.

A fast Woodring pacer has been sent to Joel Brown.

McBride, 2 17, has been placed in Jack Curry's stable.

Lorraine, 2 12 2, will make his first start of the season at Cleveland.

Lord Clinton, 2 08 2, will be raced this season over half-mile tracks.

It is announced that Jade, 2 13 2, will make but one start this year.

Limerick, the 3-year-old, by Prodigal, has been a mile in 2:36 and a quarter in 37 seconds.

A starting machine is soon to be tried with the trotters and pacers on one of the eastern tracks.

J. R. 2:39 1/2, by McAlister, recently stepped a quarter in 32 1/2 seconds at the Cleveland track.

Agato, 2 09 2, the crack California 3-year-old of last year, met defeat in his first race this season at Denver.

Hoppies will again this season be barred at the matinees held by the Gentlemen's Driving club of Cleveland.

The Grand Rapids Driving club of Grand Rapids, Mich., will hold its annual meeting this year, July 27 to 30.

Daisy C. 2 22; Fleet, Ernest Reed and Half Interest are doing some good work at Comstock park, Grand Rapids, Mich.

Klamath is indeed racing. He defeated a bunch of fairly good pacers at Colorado Springs, his fastest mile being 2:17 1/2.

Rara Avis, the brown gelding that was recently bought at auction in New York for $1,050 by F. D. Gibson, will be shipped at once to London.

Notwithstanding the failure of the state legislature to pass a betting law in Pennsylvania, lovers of racing at Contesville are contemplating making a half mile track.

Twelve trotters and ten pacers formerly in the list have reduced their records, and with the new performers the new and reduced records within standard lines now number 64.

GOWN GOSSIP.

Guimpes made of tucked muslin are popular for summer wear.

Bolts are worn with almost everything, but the buckles are worn at the back.

An eton jacket with points and a single button over the bust is one of the popular styles.

Insertion and material in alternate strips are used to form skirts, sleeves and waists. Another style has the insertion set on over the fabric.

A basque waist has collar, very wide pointed revers shoulder caps, wide belt and cuffs of the most elaborate embroidery. The waist is of black velvet.

A model suit for the wheel is made of tan colored cloth with facings of cloth of a lighter shade. One of the fancies of the hour is the mixture of two sorts of cloth.

Printed muslins in sprigged figures and spring colors are to be special favorites. They resemble taffeta silks in effect and are exceedingly pretty and stylish when worn over silk slips.

A reefer for a little girl is made with square fronts, slightly curved back, full topped sleeves and a sailor collar. Above this is a small turned over collar. The collar and cuffs are trimmed with braiding.

Tucks, ruffles and insertion are used on skirts of various materials. A new model is covered from hem to waist line with bias folds set on around the skirt. These folds are about two inches wide and are headed with a piping of contrasting material.

Tie jackets are pretty and popular. They are made somewhat after the fashion of a matinee, the fullness of the back being shrunk in at the waist line under the belt. The fronts are gathered in a similar way. The trimming may be very elaborate.—New York Ledger.

STAGE GLINTS.

John H. W. Byrne has been engaged for "1492" to play the king and tramp.

Dennison Thompson will play the part of Joshua Whitcomb in his play, "The Old Homestead," next season.

Marie Shott will be Fanny Davenport's leading lady next season. Henry Jewett also will be in Miss Davenport's company.

John W. Dunn has secured from McKeen & Hoyt the rights to "A Milk White Flag" and will take it through the country next season.

Fannye Davenport has decided to ignore the syndicate next season and book her attraction directly with managers of the theaters where she wishes to play.

Charles E. Blaney has engaged Frank Karrington and P. Ang Anderson for his "The Electrician" company and Raymond Finlay for the "A Boy Wanted" company.

William Blane will be engaged to take Joseph W. Herbert's place in "The Girl From Paris." Mr. Herbert has sailed for England, where he will join Mr. Daly's company in August.

Francis Wilson has secured a release from his engagement in the autumn at the Knickerbocker theater, New York.

Instead George Edwardes' London Gaiety company will open the season there in "In Town" on Sept. 6.

L. J. Rodriguez, who has been treasurer for Richard Mansfield for the season just passed, has bought from Mr. Mansfield the English rights of "A Social Highwayman" and will sail for England on July 10 to make arrangements for its production.

Smile pipe,
When the flavor of the weed within is ripe!
What a holiday it purrs!
As the smoke around me swirls,
Mounting slowly higher, higher,
As I dream before the fire,
With a flavor in my mouth
Like a zephyr from the south,
And my favorite tobacco
By my side.
Near my side,
With the smoking reverie away
Sweetly linking fact to fancy
In a golden memory chain,
To the gurgling sweet refrain,
Of my pipe, this pipe,
To the fairy-breathed gurgle of my pipe:
Oh what subtle satisfaction in my pipe,
Brier pipe!
Nothing mundane can impart
Such contentment to my heart.
She's my idol, she's my queen,
Is my Lady Nicotine.
When in trouble, how I yearn
For the incense which I burn
At her shrine!
How I pine!
For the fragrance of her breath!
Robbed of terror 'tis death
By her harmless hypnotism.
Healed is every mortal scheme.
Fate and friend
Sweetly blend.
At the flaming of the brier,
Greed, cupidity, desire
Fane away within the smoke,
In the fragrant, fleecy smoke
From my pipe, magic pipe,
From my glowing, peace-bestowing, gurgling pipe.

TATTOOED.

Nelly Goodeve had nursed Captain Davidson through a serious illness, not for a wage, but out of pure neighborly feeling and kindness of heart. From this he had only just recovered when his favorite nephew, Bertie Page, second mate of the Falcon steamship, came to pay him a visit after a long voyage. At that time Nelly was a thin, awkward girl of 17, with no figure to speak of, and scarcely a good feature, except her brown eyes, which were very large and lustrous. But the grateful old fellow introduced her to his nephew as "just the right sort of gal for a seafaring man to moor alongside of." To the mariner fresh from sea every woman under 40 is a goddess. And that is how the engagement came about.

Nelly was delighted. She did not pause to consider whether she loved the young sailor, but accepted him offhand. Simple seventeen often does that sort of thing and almost as frequently regrets it. Mr. Goodeve, who, I should explain, lived next door to Captain Davidson and was on very intimate terms with him, raised no objections. It was understood that Bertie did not wish to marry until he had command of a ship. In due course he went to sea again, and Nelly named him in her prayers morning and evening and kissed her engagement ring a great many times every day.

It is always interesting to watch the "ugly ducklings" putting on plumage, but none of the Goodeves seemed to be aware that their own particular "duckling" was developing into a "swan" until the young fellows of Stillboro, ignorant of the engagement so hastily entered into, began to swarm round her like bees about a honey pot.

Captain Davidson, however, was quick to notice the change which time was bringing to pass and to perceive that Dick Goodeve, Nelly's brother, had of late been much sought after—not on account of his own merits.

Being particularly wide awake, as will presently be seen, the old fellow wrote a warning letter to his nephew. But the sailor was not his own master.

Nearly two years passed before he was able to visit Stillboro.

Nelly was then 19 and as pretty a girl as one would wish to see.

Pretty, by the way, hardly describes her. She had grown tall and stately. Her cheeks were rounded, dimpled and tinted like the rose. Her eyes were not as timid as formerly, but full of conscious power. Bertie, who had put on flesh, which had not improved his personal appearance, was amazed at the change. Her beauty bid his tongue, and he did not shrink.

At the very first interview after their long separation she could not help contrasting him with more than one of her brother's new friends and greatly to his disadvantage. Captain Davidson, who was present, watched her closely, and it was after that meeting that he trotted out his little plan.

"Well," said he when the girl had gone home to make her father's tea, "what d'ye think of your sweetheart?"

Bertie, who seemed nervous and flustered, pulled his fair mustache as if seeking inspiration therefrom.

"She's splendid," he said at length. "Who would have thought it? Inez at Barcelona isn't a patch on her."

"Who's Inez?" demanded the old salt quickly. "Some girl you've been carrying on with?"

"She's a Spanish girl that all our

fellows swear by," he answered,

coloring under the old man's keen gaze.

"I haven't had much to say to her, not being free, but I thought she was jolly good looking until I saw Nell."

"I think I do," said Bertie.

Thenceforth he treated Nell rather

as a sister than a fiancee, the ro-

they land in a foreign port, growled the old sea dog; "but, I warn you, don't play any tricks with Nell Goodeve."

I'm not going to," rejoined Bertie, and no doubt he meant it.

"Because," Captain Davidson went on, "you're not married yet, not by no manner of means."

"You're not thinking that she won't have me, are you?" cried Bertie in alarm.

"There's no knowing. She has a lot of chances. I'd have liked your chance better if she'd been a bit sweeter just now."

"But she has promised. She has my ring on her finger this minute."

"Aye, aye. That sort of knot's easy loosed. If you'll take my advice, you'll crowd on every bit of sail you can carry and steer for a safe harbor."

"I don't quite understand you," said Bertie.

"Marry her!" cried the old man, thumping the table with his gnarled fist. "Marry her right away—to-morrow if you can persuade her to have you."

"But I've no home to take her to."

"Bring her here. You've no need to make a home. Here's one ready made, next door to her own father's, and she can spend half her time there and half here while you're at sea. I've set my heart on it," he went on earnestly. "If you marry her, this house and all there's in it shall be yours when I'm gone, and what money I have left shall be equally divided between you. She won't come to you a beggar neither. Goodeve has put money by, and Nell'll have her share."

"I'll ask her to fix the day next time I see her," said Bertie, with decision, and the old man growled approval.

It was odd perhaps that Nell, who during her lover's prolonged absence had been quite as faithful as most engaged girls similarly circumstanced, should find on meeting him that the chain galled her. At that time she did not know why exactly, but it was so. On returning home she took off her ring for almost the first time in two years.

"I don't think I love him," she said to herself. "and I don't think I can marry him."

When Bertie called after tea, she was in the same mood. Mr. Goodeve very considerately left them alone together, and the young sailor lost no time in coming to the point.

"Uncle wants me to get married at once," he said. "He has promised to give us the house next door and the furniture when he has done with it, and he would like us to make it our home now."

"It is very good of him," said Nelly, the red blood dyeing her cheeks, "but I—I would rather have a home of my own, and I couldn't leave father yet. I would much rather wait until you have a ship."

He tried hard to shake her resolution, but the more ardent he became the colder she grew, so he returned to his uncle and reported the failure.

"There's the worst of it," he added, "is that I've only a fortnight's leave.

After that's over I shan't see her again for a year, and nobody knows what will have happened by then."

"That's true enough," said the old man thoughtfully. "I was fearful she'd go astern. There's two or three smart fellows about here ready to eat her, if looks go for anything. If you don't marry her now or make her fast, you never will."

"How can I make her fast?" asked Bertie gloomily.

"I've known'd," said Davidson,

"when I was a young chap. A goodish many seafaring men as had to leave their sweethearts a-drifting about at the mercy of any privateer as chance to sight 'em. Some of 'em—wide awake, they was—put a mark on 'em afore they sailed. That held 'em as fast as if the parson had spliced 'em."

"I never was a good hand at riddles," said Bertie.

Chuckles, the old sailor rolled up his sleeve and unbuttoned the wristband of his shirt. From the wrist upward the arm was tattooed.

Captain Davidson passed the palm of his right hand up and down the pictures.

"Pretty, ain't they?" said he.

"My fingers wasn't so shaky when I did 'em as they are now, but I reckon they're steady enough to put a mark on Nell's arm as'll hold her till doomsday, always providing as she can be persuaded to consent."

"What is it you are proposing?" asked Bertie.

"Just the tattooing of a few letters on her arm, my lad," answered the artful old fellow.

"I wouldn't bother her to marry any more yet awhile if I was you. Be asweet as you know how, though. A day or two before you sail you'll show her her name, tattooed on your arm to keep you true, and between us may-be we'll persuade her to let me put the same sort of holdfast on hers.

Now d'ye see?"

"I think I do," said Bertie.

"Well," said he when the girl had gone home to make her father's tea, "what d'ye think of your sweet-heart?"

Bertie, who seemed nervous and flustered, pulled his fair mustache as if seeking inspiration therefrom.

"She's splendid," he said at length.

"Who would have thought it? Inez at Barcelona isn't a patch on her."

"Who's Inez?" demanded the old salt quickly. "Some girl you've been carrying on with?"

"She's a Spanish girl that all our

fellows swear by," he answered,

coloring under the old man's keen gaze.

"I haven't had much to say to her, not being free, but I thought she was jolly good looking until I saw Nell."

"I think I do," said Bertie.

Thenceforth he treated Nell rather

as a sister than a fiancee, the ro-

gulf being that she was much more at her ease when in his society. When she found that he never by any chance spoke of their marriage, she began to like him better and feel sorry that she could not love him.

Meanwhile Captain Davidson tattooed the letters "Nell" in capitals on the youth's right arm.

"Why, it isn't Bertie Page!" he cried.

"Yes, but it means Bertie Page."

"Not necessarily," Pemberton re-joined, laughing. "It will fit me very well. I'm called Jack, but I was christened Benjamin. Suppose we read it, 'I love Benjamin Pemberton.' What do you say?"

Some men are so masterful. With out waiting for the answer, Pemberton drew the girl's head close and kissed her on the lips. She wore a ring on her finger next day, but it was not that given to her by the sailor.

Chancing to meet Captain Davidson, she took care that he should see it.

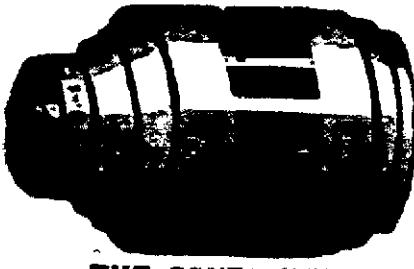

"Hello!" he cried. "A new ring! Bertie didn't tell me, the sly young dog."

"This isn't Bertie's," said Neil gravely. "It was given me by Mr. Benjamin Pemberton, whose initials, of course, are B. P. I have written to Bertie, care of the Falcon's owners, saying how sorry I am that I can't marry him."

"The dickens!" cried the old salt.

"Two B. P.'s! I guessed you wanted to slip your cable, but I thought I'd fixed it so that it would stand any strain."

EXPERT TESTIMONY

Being Taken Upon the Question of Hawk's Sanity.

WHAT PHYSICIANS SAY.

The Case Progressing Slowly and Will Not Reach the Jury Until Next Week—Only Eight Witnesses Examined this Morning.

Very slow progress was made in the Hawk murder case to-day, there being only eight witnesses examined from 8 till 11:40 o'clock this morning. These eight were all physicians, and most of them were introduced as expert witnesses in behalf of the defense, upon the question of the defendant's sanity or insanity. The case will not go to the jury this week and it is even probable that the evidence will not all be in before next week.

In one of his rulings this morning Judge Richie, to use a popular term, took a "fall" out of judge Seney. The defendant proposed an hypothetical question to a witness embracing a number of facts as a basis for an opinion by the witness as to the sanity or insanity of the defendant. Objection was made to the question for the reason that the facts embraced within the question were not established by the evidence, the objection being based upon a holding made by Mr. Seney while acting as judge of the circuit court, in the case of Holomon vs. Brown & Weible, as a reason for reversing judge Richie in that case. In commenting upon the ruling made by Mr. Seney, judge Richie said in substance, "That holding is not supported by any court of respectable standing, or by any text writer of learning, and is not law and was so decided by the circuit court in the same case after a judge had succeeded Mr. Seney upon the circuit bench."

YESTERDAY AFTERNOON.

Dr. Rudy took the stand at 2:30 yesterday afternoon. Said mental condition of John Stoldt was poor.

James Reeder, a cousin of the defendant, said his sister was insane and had been confined in an asylum. On cross-examination he stated that she was taken to the asylum just after the birth of a child.

Dr. A. W. Kahlke stated that he was acquainted with Clinton Hawk, the defendant. Said that Hawk came to his office one time with a bill upon which he had guaranteed payment for a friend in Toledo. He told Hawk to whom the bill should be presented. Hawk said "all right" and started out and then an instant later said, "well, where are you going to pay this bill?"

DR. H. C. BENNETT

said Hawk came to his office one time and asked for some medicine for his sister and said that he didn't know whether or not his mother had told him what he should tell the doctor about the girl's ailment.

At 2:45 o'clock court adjourned until 8 o'clock this morning.

DR. BOYER.

Dr. W. N. Boyer was the first witness called this morning. Said he had been a practicing physician and surgeon for sixteen years. Knew the defendant. Said the defendant did some work for him, and considered him a person of nervous temperament and that his ancestral lineage was eccentric, that might at any time develop in the individual in peculiar acts or deeds. Upon cross-examination, Dr. Boyer said he did not know whether or not this peculiar manner might prevail with the individual for a period of two weeks and terminate in an act after which the individual would immediately regain reason. Said he never saw an insane person shed tears.

DR. L. F. LAUDICK.

Said he dressed the wounds of Fanny Watkins after the shooting. Said she told him that the defendant said to his father, before he fired a shot, "Come out of here."

EXPERT TESTIMONY.

Attorney Roby read to the witness a history of the alleged insanity of the defendant's relatives and the history, as he had compiled it, of the defendant's behavior prior to the murder, and the family troubles that led up to the shooting, and then asked if there was an indication of insanity upon the part of the defendant.

Dr. Laudick replied that there was certainly an indication of insanity.

Upon cross-examination the Dr. stated that it was not the rule for insane persons to regain sanity in a single day. Said that he answered Mr. Roby's hypothetical question as he did, assuming that the statements were true.

Prosecuting attorney Ridenour also stated a hypothetical question to Dr. Laudick, giving his statement of the case; how the father was threatened by the son, was followed by the son and mortally wounded; how, after the defendant was locked up, he guarded his rights and cautioned his brother to keep still, would the witness consider that indicated that the defendant was insane?

Dr. Laudick replied that ordinarily it would not, but that, though it was not the rule, the cunning of insane persons sometimes excused that of sane people.

Dr. Anna Goebel, upon direct examination, replied to Mr. Roby's hypothetical question that, assuming that the statements of the attorney were true, the act of the defendant was an indication of emotional insanity.

Upon cross-examination, when asked by Mr. Ridenour if, the defendant having threatened his father

AMONG THE RAILROADS.

Superintendent S. B. Floeter went to Sidney this morning.

The D. & L. N. is ballasting the tracks leading to the new depot.

Col. Brown, secretary of the D. & L. N. was in the city last night.

Traveling engineer Miller, of the C. H. & D., is stopping at the Cambridge House.

Conductor Ann Nims, of the C. H. & D., who has been very ill, suffering from an attack of rheumatism, is slowly improving.

AN AGED LADY.

Well Known to Many Lima People Dies at Aurora, Ill.

Mr. J. D. Vannatta yesterday received a telegram announcing the death of Mrs. Eliza Vannatta, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. S. E. Collier, at Aurora, Ill.

Mrs. Eliza Vannatta was born in Pickaway county, Ohio, Jan. 31, 1828, and died June 23, 1897, aged 69 years 5 months and 23 days. It is supposed her death was due to heart trouble, and other ailments. Her maiden name was Spyker, and she was a sister of the late Samuel Spyker, of Orville. She was married, May 16, 1848, to J. B. Longshore and moved to Lima in the early fifties, residing on a farm in what is now South Lima, near Main and Vine streets. Her husband died in 1852 and in 1857 she was again united in marriage to Mr. John Vannatta, of Kentucky; Mrs. G. K. Haller, of Allentown, Pa., and Mrs. B. F. Collier, of Aurora, Ill.

Mrs. Vannatta had been in poor health for the past five years and was compelled to break up housekeeping on east Market street, afterwards making her home with her daughter in Aurora, Ill.

Mrs. Vannatta was one of the old settlers of Allen county, loved and honored by all who knew her. Her remains will arrive at 3:15 o'clock to-morrow afternoon and all who wish to see her may call at the home of Mrs. J. D. Vannatta, west North street, to-morrow afternoon and evening.

Interment will be made in Woodlawn in a grave beside her husband's.

ON A CURVE.

A Cut of D. & L. N. Cars Jumped the Track at Napoleon.

DR. BOYER.

Local freight No. 53 of the D. & L. N. met with an accident at Napoleon yesterday. The engine was taking a cut of cars down a branch track leading to the center of the city. In rounding a short curve, a car loaded with lumber jumped the track and pulled two others off with it. Conductor Stone was standing on one of the cars and as it left the track he jumped. As he struck the ground his right leg was twisted and broken below the knee. A horseman was sitting on a horse car which also jumped the track and was turned over. He was considerably bruised but received no serious injury. Conductor Stone will be brought back to his home on north Elizabeth street to day.

AN EXCITING GAME,

And Wapakoneta was Outplayed in Every Point.

LIMA 8. WAPAKONETA 5.

Mackey Pitched a Winning Game and Received Good Support—New Players Show up Well—Hunter's Home Run in the Ninth.

Considering the fact that it was a wet day a very good sized crowd witnessed the base ball game at Faurot's park yesterday afternoon. The Wapakoneta and Lima teams were the contestants and that made the game interesting from the very start, and not only that, but the game was an interesting one and the spectators were delighted. Mackey pitched a great game for Lima and his support was only slightly lacking, though it was not quite as good as that given Bresnahan last Sunday. Frank Seale played a great game behind the bat and wound up the game with a put out and an assist to his credit in the ninth inning that were two of the prettiest plays in the whole game. One man was out, a runner was at first and the batter sent up a fly foul that was captured by Seale after a hard run back to the grand stand. The runner thought he had a catch on second with the ball so far away, and made a great sprint, but with a "wing" that surprised everyone, Seale sent the ball squarely into Murray's hands at second base, the man was out, the side retired and the game was over.

Hunter and Chatfield are creditable additions to the team, both at fielding and batting. Hunter was the first man to bat in the ninth inning and he sent the "pig skin" so far over the right field fence that it wasn't found again and a home run was scored to his credit.

For six innings the game looked as though it would be another shut out, but the Wapakoneta Indians rallied in the seventh inning and scored three runs, which were followed by two more in the eighth, but Lima had the lead with three in the first half of the first, one in the sixth, two in the eighth and winding up with two in the ninth. The score by innings was as follows:

Lima 0 0 0 0 1 0 2 2 —8

Wapakoneta 0 0 0 0 0 3 2 0 —5

Batteries—Mackey and Seale, Lyons and Poor. Struck out—By Mackey, 9; by Lyons, 2. Base on balls—Off Mackey, 1; off Lyons, 4. Hit by pitched ball—Mackey, 1; Lyons, 2. Wild pitches—Mackey, 1; Lyons, 1. Passed balls—Seale, 1; Poor, 4. Hits—Lima, 11; Wapakoneta, 8. Errors—Lima 4; Wapakoneta, 3.

NOTES.

The outfield never was stronger than now.

The same teams play at Wapakoneta to-day.

Mackey was never better than when men were on bases.

Burt's slide to second was one of the features of the game.

McCartry is a favorite at the bat and, like Seale, is always applauded.

Delehaney did some excellent work yesterday and is always in the game.

Bresnahan has refused an offer from the manager of the Dayton team.

Good old Jack Murray is always at second and never fails when he has half a chance.

The Lima boys played faster ball and outclassed the visitors at almost every stage of the game.

The Lima team is composed of a fine crowd of ball players. They are gentlemen and not given to "boozing."

The boys are playing at Wapakoneta to-day, the most difficult place in the state for a visiting team to win.

Bresnahan, off whose delivery the Galion players were unable to make a hit, is pitching at Wapakoneta to-day.

Covert, as usual, hit at critical times and kept even for his errors, which were possibly excusable any-way.

Chicago Junction will play here Saturday and Sunday. This team is considered one of the best semi-professional teams in the state.

Manager Star is a hard worker and is a good base ball man, and is endeavoring to give Lima a first class ball team. He holds his men together well and works them hard.

Manager Star is endeavoring to schedule a date with the great Cincinnati Reds for July 16th. The Cincinnati boys have many friends in Lima and desire to secure a date. Such a game would bring out
